A father's true story of his daughter's murder disguised as suicide and his fight for justice. In 2011, Queensland, Australia, as a parent I received a shocking phone call that no parent should ever have to receive, one that would change my life forever. This is the story of the pursuing rush across country to Townsville ICU and the heartbreak that follows, the continuing abuse of the ex-boyfriend and his family, including the attempt to steal my daughter's body and cremate it without our knowledge as well as finding out about other atrocities as the story unfolds. While fighting with the Mount Isa police, the Queensland Northern Coroner as well as the State Coroner in trying to have proven inconsistencies investigated, we received only incompetence and contempt in return. At the same time we had to defend our daughter's Estate against false claims from the abusive drug addict ex-boyfriend who had no entitlement, while dealing with the Sunsuper retirement fund with a life insurance component and the Conciliation Tribunal for three years and without an end in sight. My true story starts with a valuable message to enlighten parents of the potential horrors they could face when their child is in an abusive relationship.
