Avery Love; four letters, one word. The emotion it causes can't be written. People have tried but no one can capture its true meaning. It's something you feel, something that consumes you. It has no limits and sees no reason. This is what I feel for Dominic Stone My entire world gravitates around him. I am his, and he is mine. I had no idea how intense my love for him could ever be; so fierce that you'd have to feel it to believe it. I never thought there would be a day where I would have to make a choice.

My love has no boundaries, it's end... I am his and he is mine Dominic My childhood would have destroyed anyone else. Not me. I fought. I overcame. My ghosts haunt me, but they do not define me. On the day I asked Avery to prom, she had no idea I was making her mine. For her, I became the man I saw in her eyes; the man worthy of her love. My heart is guarded, but my love is raw. She's my everything: my sun in the clear blue sky and my shining stars in the darkness. Until she shatters me in a way nothing else ever could
