The demon Nyina despises the life that she lives. Down in the Underworld, there is nothing but rain and destruction everywhere. Though she is a demon herself, Nyina looks and acts human, which makes it so that she does not connect with any demon in the world. She connects least of all with her mother Nystica, the dark queen of the Underworld. With having nothing to love in the life that she leads, Nyina wants nothing more than for something to change. After years of solitude and loneliness with only demon cruelty for company, things do change for Nyina. Her life is turned upside-down when a stranger appears to her, and offers her his guidance and friendship.

With her new friendship comes the introduction to angels, great powers called elements, and danger to her life. Nyina gets what she always wished for and gains a new life - but only after her death.
