I was born special. Un I'm forced to do so, I rarely use my abilities. They're powerful and always at the ready, but they also attract the attention of my enemies. That's why I tend to be careful. Now a stranger knows about me, a man who is impervious to my energies. And he has tracked me down to Santina. Though we share the same enemies, I won't let him invade my life. What I have to do is stay under the radar while searching for the recollections I have forgotten. My past and my present are linked. I won't be safe until I find out what has been hidden from me.
